Gopher Design

gd

Gopher Design

Gopher Design is a locally based company that does web design and web hosting with extraordinary service. We are a small family-run company that has been in business since January of 2003.

As a Maine business, we know what other Maine businesses need. A website that is both functional and eye-catching, one that tells your customers what they need to know and one that is easy for them to find. Our goal as a web design and hosting company is to make that website a reality for the business owners we work with. We will work hard to get your website up and running quickly, make it look the way you want it to, at a price you are comfortable with.

Having a website is crucial in today's business world. Customers look to the internet for information about everything; where to buy a house or a car, to plan their next vacation, to decide what to have for dinner, to buy materials or hire a contractor for their next project, you name it, and someone in Maine is searching for it right now. With a great website filled with current information about your business, potential customers could be learning about your business long after you turn off the lights and lock the door for the day.

Herard Seat Weaving

Herard Seat Weaving can hand weave cane, rush, and shaker tape seats for chairs, stools and benches. HSW started in the summer of 2012 by recaning a chair that had no seat at all. The seat was covered with a old plywood that was peeling away. From there, HSW wove a new seat to a Presidential Rocker for a client in Falmouth. You can find more about HSW at facebook.com/herardseatweaving.

Third Chapter Films

Jeff Fischer created Third Chapter Films to help people preserve in documentary form their stories and the special events of their lives. This applies not only to individuals and families, but also to communities and institutions. What better way to celebrate, for example, the birthday of a loved one, or the bicentennial of a town – than with a video documenting its rich history?

A project with Third Chapter Films starts with helping my clients understand and realize their vision – what the film will express and who will be the intended audience. It ends with a DVD and/or an video posted online. A film seen only by a dozen family members deserves as much care as one that reaches out to a much wider audience. And today's video and computer technology makes even a modest project affordable.

Jeff Fischer is a retired teacher of English and film, who lives in Bowdoinham, Maine. He started Third Chapter Films to put his skills as an interviewer, as a careful listener, and as an image-maker to the service of people with stories to tell. In this “third chapter” of his life, he'd like to be part of yours.
