

South Pork Point Public Land Information Sheet

Address:

Pork Point Rd.
Bowdoinham, Maine 04008

The area is not marked, but the proximity to Billington Ln. (just north) makes the connection to Pork Point Rd. easy to find.

Hours: None – Always Open to The Public

Parking: Parking along the side of Pork Point Rd. is possible, as long as the shoulder allows you to fit your car completely out of the driving lane. Be sure to stay off of private land when parking and making your way over.

Activities: This patch of public land is an important habitat for wading birds and waterfowl species. As such, if a birder is willing to get muddy, they will enjoy themselves. Explorers or hunter/trackers will need to be aware of the conditions as standing water can create large, deep mud patches. Access to the Abagadasset is best at high tide.

Good to Know:

- Stable terrain, but lots of muddy patches during warmer months
- Ground conditions changes based on tide and precipitation
- Important bird habitat
- Tough to access, but beautiful land once passed the narrow entry along the road

Open fires and camping are not permitted at this location.
